Advanced Field Kit

Your gear is only as reliable as the protection you give it. From remote shoots to rugged fieldwork, downtime isn’t an option, so we’ve paired elite Peli micro-cases with the industry-leading RucPac harness. Carry critical media, batteries and tools in hands-free comfort while military-grade seals and crush-proof shells shrug off dust, water and impact. Everything stays organised, accessible and mission-ready when seconds count. Upgrade once, worry less on every assignment.

For Professionals Who Can’t Afford “What If?”

Water, dirt and drops are the three silent killers of digital assets. The 0915 SD Card Case locks out the elements with an IPX4 seal and shock-absorbing liner, so your footage survives the wild as well as the edit suite. Meanwhile, the M50 Micro Case shields small electronics, batteries or comms gear from up to 1 metre of submersion. Together they create a failsafe vault for mission-critical media and power, no more frantic backups, no more ruined shots.

Comfort That Keeps You Moving

Long hikes to location? Airport sprint for a connecting flight? The RucPac Pro Hardcase converts your Peli 1510 (or any similar roller case) into an ergonomic backpack in under a minute. Padded, load-balancing straps and an airflow back panel transfer weight to your hips, freeing your hands for cameras, drones or climbing holds. When you reach set, it stows flat inside the lid, zero extra bulk, maximum versatility.

Small Kit, Massive Confidence

The Advanced Field Kit blends lightweight cases with pro-grade carry so you can travel lean without compromising protection. Each component is built to Peli’s lifetime standard, meaning you buy it once and trust it everywhere, from alpine dawn shoots to urban night missions. Pack smart, shoot bold, deliver on time.
